

The Reception given by the Y. M. C. A. Rooms.
Last Evening.

The book reception given by the Y. M. C. A. at Lincoln hall last evening was a most satisfactory entertainment in every respect, as those who attended had the pleasure of witnessing and of the most delightful entertainments of the season, and the library was enriched by the addition of about 200 valuable books. The only departure from the published programme was the fact that the poet assigned to Mrs. True, as that lady was suffering from a cold and could not sing. Mrs. Jarley never appeared to be half so amusing as she did last night in the hands of Mrs. True, and the recitation of the poem was truly wonderful. A novel and very interesting feature of the entertainment was the shadow pantomimes by a number of the students of the Washington college. Georgetown was most creditably represented by a series of tableaux vivantes, in which parts were taken by ladies and gentlemen of the city. Miss Kiddell and Messrs. Johnson, Tweedale and Whitwell supplied the list of recitations of the entertainment. When the programme was concluded a feast of another description—of which the principal dishes were ice cream, cake and coffee—was served. The reception and reading of the papers of the evening were under the supervision of Mrs. Tweedale. The association has recently cleared from their shelves the books belonging to the old Washington college library, many of which were inappropriate for a circulating library and the object of the reception last evening was to aid in filling up the vacant shelves with books of a different description. The two hundred books received covered the whole range of literature from fiction to philosophy. Many persons who had no books to spare made donations of money, which will be made to the list of periodicals in the reading-rooms.
